Consignments are accepted by appointment only!

Clothes must be recently cleaned and neatly folded with NO marks, stains or tears.

Eclectic Collection will determine the price of your garments. The consigner (you) will receive 50% of the selling price after selling the garment.

We will transfer the money via EFT for the garment sold on the 10th of each month.

The consignor is responsible for picking up any unsold items at the end of the 12-week consignment period.

After 12 weeks, the garments become the property of the The Eclectic Collection if not collected by the owner, and we then have the right to donate them.

Please keep in contact with us, for we are not responsible for contacting you should your items expire.

Although we will do everything we can, we are not responsible for any clothing and/or accessories or other items that are missing, stolen or damaged by handling.

Please fill in the inventory list supplied, and make sure a blank, not priced, unique to you label is attached to your clothing piece to identify your items.

We reserve the right not to accept items for any reason.

Thank you for joining The Eclectic Collection!
